Make A Lot Of MoneyThe Navigation Act of 1660 also explicitly taxed colonial tobacco two pence on every pound and these tobacco taxes made up about 25% of all English customs revenues in the 1660's. The Navigation Acts created tension between the colonies and monarchy in the decades leading up to the Revolutionary War.In 1825, when the Revolutionary War hero General Lafayette visited Savannah, the local newspaper recorded fifty-one arm-wearying toasts to him over glasses of Madeira. The brandy-fortified wine, which crossed the Atlantic from the eponymous Portuguese island, had been the city's drink of choice since its founding, in 1733.Fighting for the Future: Kajan Johnson's long road to activism, in and out of the cage The
