Madhvacharya (1238 1317 CE), also known as Purna Prajña and Ananda T rtha, was a Hindu philosopher and the chief proponent of the Dvaita (dualism) school of Vedanta. His philosophy is a sharp criticism of Shankara's Advaita Vedanta. Perhaps most telling is Madhvacharya's rejection of Jnana Yoga (path of knowledge) as the means of moksha, and his belief that Bhakti marga (devotion) is the only path to salvation. Sri Nimbarka: His Life, Religion and Philosophy (Swami Tapasyananda) (2000) ISBN: 9788171202560 - Sri Ramakrishna Math, 2000. 2nd edition. Softcover. New. 14 x 22 cm.
